PAIN RELIEF REGIME

Often when a tooth hurts, it is because the tissue in the tooth or in the surrounding area of the tooth is inflamed. To adequately take care of this situation, it is necessary to reduce the inflammation. Even prescription pain medication is not as effective as anti-inflammatories!

The best plan to relieve the pain of inflammation if you can take anti-inflammatory medications, is to alternate Ibuprofen and Tylenol. Our directions are:

600 mg. of Ibuprofen followed in two hours by 2 extra-strength Tylenol. This dosage should be repeated every 6 hours until the pain subsides.

A TYPICAL SCHEDULE WOULD LOOK LIKE THIS:

8 am	600 mg Ibuprofen
10 am	2 extra-strength Tylenol
2 pm	600 mg Ibuprofen
4 pm	2 extra-strength Tylenol
8 pm	600 mg Ibuprofen
